Abstract

Techniques and a set of heuristics are described to perform allocation of the special instruction memory where indirect very long instruction words (VLIW's) are stored for the ManArray family of multiprocessor digital signal processors (DSP). This approach

5   substantially reduces the cost of pre-initializing the contents of VLIWs.